

SEESPITZ-tip: Ropes course in Pfronten-Kappel

Thrills and dexterity for little adventurers

Go for it! You can do it, with just a bit of courage. The team of the Waldseilgarten forest rope course will “show you the ropes”, and teach you how to climb through the treetops. The rope slides are a true adrenalin kick: they let you glide across the rushing mountain stream out of the ‘Höllschlucht’ canyon - a truly great conclusion to a day of climbing! If you don’t want to climb, you can take a leisurely walk on the sign-posted paths underneath the course free of charge, watch your friends or family, and take photos or videos of the adventure. Further attractions on site include an archery area with 3D targets, a slackline course, the close-by “Bandits’ Nest” children’s playground, and the stone ball mill. For refreshments, try a traditional Allgäu lunch with regional products, a variety of snacks, coffee and cake on the terrace of the wooden forest hut belonging to the rope course.
